Hi there,

I am writing to request your approval to attend BerniePortal's annual user's conference, Weekdays with Bernie, on April 17-19, 2023.

This event will convene with hundreds of HR leaders and thinkers for a first-class experience, providing access to strategic solution-oriented sessions and networking opportunities with other industry professionals. Weekdays with Bernie, which will be held in-person in Nashville, TN, and online via livestream, is dedicated to providing valuable strategic advice to the HR professionals who keep our businesses across the country going and growing.

Featuring a keynote presentation from SHRM president and Wall Street Journal best-selling author Johnny C. Taylor—as well as a great lineup of other human resource and leadership experts—Weekdays with Bernie will specifically focus on:

1. Moving forward after the past several years of industry shake-ups
2. Critical retention and recruitment strategies to keep talent at your organization
3. How to create a remarkable and sustainable culture
4. State of the healthcare industry
5. And plenty more

I believe attending Weekdays with Bernie will benefit not only my career but also give me the tools needed to take our organization to the next level. I'll have the opportunity to learn from HR industry experts, work directly with the BerniePortal team, and focus on tangible skills I can implement to make my role even more strategic.

I have set these goals for attendance:

Given the event is quickly approaching, your timely consideration is appreciated.

Best,
